FNDH - 321 - Medical Documentation

2018-2019 Appendix A: Course Form - New

General Catalog Information (NEW)

Contact person for this proposal* Ryan Thiele, rthiele@ksu.edu

Department* Food, Nutrition, Dietetics, and Health

Subject* FNDH

Catalog Number* 321

Long Course Title* Medical Documentation

Short Title* Medical Documentation

Credit Hours/ Units* 2

Course Description* This course is to prepare students with the knowledge of medical nomenclature related to human systems, diseases, and scientific concepts for applications of electronic medical documentation (Electronic Medical Records; EMR) and scientific communication.

Rationale and Impact (NEW)

Rationale* With current and new health care programs growing in our department and college, and changes in the healthcare system regarding documentation (electronic medical records, specifically), there is a need to expose our health and pre-health students to this material prior to becoming healthcare practitioners or entering their preferred postgraduate healthcare programs. There is a need to better prepare our students prior to placements in clinical practica and internships. This course will require students to understand nomenclature in order to interpret medical documents and record medical data.

Impact Statement (i.e. if this impacts another unit)* After running an Impact Report via Curriculumlog, an impact was not noted. However, there is a course that is offered on occasion -- CLSCS 105: Medical Terminology: Latin and Greek for Scientists. It does not apply the concepts to clinical/disease situations, it focuses on Latin and Greek aspects of the terminology, and does not cover clinical documentation or medical records.

There may be an impact with students in our health-focused programs changing courses, as the proposed course will be required within our curricula.

At our meeting referenced in the following e-mail. Dr. Hillard, Dr. McCloskey, and I met to discuss this proposed course and CLSCS 105. There was general support for this more applied course. However, the use of "Terminology" was not supported, and it was discussed that assignments and coursework needed to differ from those in CLSCS 105. Thus, during a FNDH faculty meeting, we decided to enhance the course to reflect the applied aspects of the course via incorporation of SOAP notes assignments. Another unique distinction of this course is exposure to electronic medical recording of patient data.

An attached file is the most recent (October 2018) communication with Dr. Hillard.

Subject: Applied Medical Terminology & Documentation

Good afternoon, Derek, Please find the update syllabus attached for our course proposal. We discussed this in our college meeting and the committee suggested changing the title to be more in line with the outcomes of the course, which are to apply and use medical terms for better understanding health issues and for being able to better communicate/document within the health profession. This course is for health (FNDH Athletic Training and Dietetics) and pre-health students. It is our understanding this 300 level course will be provided at a little higher level due to the application aspects, and introduction to electronic documentation. As you will note, there are 10 EMR assignments that utilize and apply terminology, and goes beyond knowing vocabulary, historical context, and spelling. The application of material seems much different the work and assignments in your course given a review of your syllabus.

I am free Tuesday (10/2) afternoon (1:00-4:00) or Wednesday (10/3) morning (9:30-11:30) to review this with you and gather your perspective. I am available Thursday and Friday, if those days work better for you. I am happy to meet in your office.

MANGT

Catalog Number* 643

Long Course Title* Staffing Organizations

Short Title (provide if title changed above)

Course Description*

Focuses on recruitment, selection, and retention issues, including an in-depth consideration of legal and practical issues involved in the acquisition and retention of human resources, including detailed coverage of job analysis, criterion development, recruitment strategies, and techniques and procedures for ensuring valid and effective selection of employees.

Rationale and Impact (CHANGE)

Rationale* As part of the review process, MANGT 643 (Staffing Organizations), was reviewed to see if it should receive the diversity tag. It was felt that the course did not meet the 40% threshold necessary to be tagged as "Diversity in the US", but did meet the definition to be tagged as "Social Science". At the present time, MANGT 643 is not tagged with any of the K-State 8 tags, and it is now the Recommendation to add the "Social Science" tag to MANGT 643.

Impact Statement (i.e. if this impacts another unit)*

Susan Cooper, Associate Registrar, shared the following: The K-State 8 tags are pulled into DARS from the KSIS course catalog. Effective dating allows for the same course to have different combinations of K-State 8 tags applied, depending on when the course was taken. For example, if a student completed a course with a Historical Perspectives K-State 8 tag and that tag was either changed or removed the following term, that course would still apply as Historical Perspectives for that student.

Justification for the "Social Science" tag can be seen in the following K-State 8 statement that has been written for inclusion on the MANGT 643 syllabus:

Your enrollment in MANGT 643 helps satisfy the "Social Sciences" tag in the K-State 8 General Education program. As part of this course, you will discover the process through which organizations plan and make decisions regarding the staffing process and how this relates to the functioning of individuals, teams, and the organization as a whole. Through this course you will learn to identify and address current social issues and their impact on through all levels of the organization.
